like in other allergic diseases, the incidence of asthma has been on the rise (why? - see the discussion under separate topic) in the usa and other developed countries of the world