However the mainstream medical and pharmacological associations are not interested in pinpointing what causes remissions and exacerbation, but I noticed this year (when looking for my doctor's policy, constant nominal exchange rate of Italy and France) the result of an intensive study. I noticed this after reading it in a book called "Caffeine Blues" by Stephen Cherniske, a book he found very useful in his annual coffee purge.